In Honor of Attractive Visiting Girl.
Miss Corinne Winstead, of 629 Washington street, delightfully entertained the Mardi club in compliance to Miss Helen-Mar Halliburton, of Carthage, Mo., the charming guest of Mrs. Vincent Salvo, Tuesday afternoon at her home. Each was played, Miss Hazel McCandless captured the first prize, a book. The lone-hand prize, a deck of cards, went to Miss Elizabeth Sebre, and the guest of honor was presented with a pretty Irish lace jabot.

At the conclusion of the game the guests were invited into the dining room where a delicious luncheon was served. The table was most attractive in its appointments. The cover was of cluny lace, and the pink motif was prettily carried out.

The guests were limited to the club members and the guest of honor: Misses Corinne Winstead, Helen-Mar Halliburton, Hazel McCandless, Nell Shaw, Lillie May McGlashan, Elizabeth Sebre, Elizabeth Boxwell, Mabel McNichols, Lucy Slaughter, Mrs. Vincent Salvo.

Matinee Musical Club's Cantata Beautiful.
The Matinee Musical club will present a brilliant musical event by notable local talent on Thursday evening in the Women's club auditorium. "King Rene's Daughter," a cantata for women's voices, will be rendered. It will be under the direction of Miss Newell, whose name is synonymous with charmingly planned and successfully executed entertainments. Miss Lula Reed will be the sympathetic accompanist. There will be no admission charged, but there will be a free-will collection taken to pay for the club's music. It will be the club's annual entertainment at the year-end.

The story of King Rene's Daughter as beautifully told in the songs is freely adapted from Henrik Hertz drama as follows:

Iolanthe, daughter of the King Rene, Count of Provence, has been betrothed in infancy to the son of the Count of Vandemont. Stricken with blindness when but a year old, she has been reared with all knowledge of the faculty of sight withheld from her. A leech or magician has promised to restore her sight, by means of an amulet he has given her, on condition that she is first informed of the missing sense; but the king has refused permission, Iolanthe's betrothed, wandering as a troubadour, lights upon her abode in a valley of Vauluse. Without knowing her—for a territorial feud has kept their lives apart—the troubadour knight is enthralled by her beauty. He does not know that she is blind, and his words reveal to her the faculty of which she has been kept in ignorance; he thus unwittingly aids the magician's art, and Iolanthe is restored to sight.

DRY RIDGE IN KENTUCKY

Boasts of a Lady Who Could Hardly Walk, But Finally Made a Quick Recovery By the Aid of Cardui.

Dry Ridge, Ky.—"I was so poorly, with a pain in my side, that I was almost dead," writes Mrs. Lydia Powell of this place. "Before I tried Cardui, I could hardly walk across the room. Now I can walk 4 miles and do my work with much more ease. I praise Cardui for my wonderful cure."

You may wonder why this medicine is so successful in benefiting sick women, even seemingly serious cases. The answer is very simple. Cardui is successful, because it is composed of ingredients that act specifically on the womanly constitution. It is a medicine for women, and only for women.

If you are weak and ailing, or suffer from lack of appetite, lack of blood, lack of vitality, Cardui is just what you need to put you into a proper state of health.

No medicine without merit could remain in such constant use, and show such continual increase in sales as Cardui has for the past 50 years.

Are you a woman?
Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.
Your druggist sells it.
